

Infinite Dreams by Variable is a generative art project created for H&M, blending AI-driven visuals with fashion to explore the concept of infinite creativity. Using machine learning and parametric design, the project generates endless unique dreamlike fashion visuals, reflecting H&M's vision of sustainability and innovation. Variable, a design studio specializing in computational creativity, merges technology and art to push the boundaries of digital experiences.

